HR & Administration Manager | Operations and Talent Management Expert

Brandy Hardin brings over 30 years of experience in human resources, administrative management, and operations across government contracting and industrial sectors. As HR and Administration Manager at G&E Industrial Supplies, she oversees talent strategy, workforce planning, administrative functions, warehouse operations, supply chain, and logistics.

Brandy's expertise lies in identifying, hiring, and developing the right talent to drive organizational performance. She combines HR strategy with operational knowledge, ensuring seamless coordination between departments and alignment with both business and regulatory requirements.

She has led recruitment, on-boarding, performance management, and employee development initiatives, while managing operational areas including warehouse, shipping and receiving, accounts, and deliveries. Her oversight ensures compliance, efficiency, and cost-effective operations that directly support business growth and client satisfaction.

Brandy maintains hands-on involvement in all administrative and operational processes, from supply chain and warehouse management to daily office functions, ensuring that policies translate effectively into action.

Experienced in working with prime government contractors, she ensures adherence to labor laws, safety regulations, and organizational policies, maintaining high standards of compliance and accountability.

Brandy is focused on optimizing workforce performance, streamlining operations, and ensuring efficient delivery of services. Her integrated approach strengthens G&E Industrial Supplies' operational foundation while enabling growth and consistent, high-quality service for clients.
